

Lisa Vanderpas, B.A.

London, Ontario, Canada • lisa_vander@hotmail.com

I am an Informed Response Outreach Worker with valuable experience in crisis management, de-escalation, and systems management in the social work field.

My current work is focused on supporting vulnerable individuals in the community and connecting them to medical and social resources.

These experiences have allowed me to take advantage of my leadership skills in the work environment to encourage others through authoritative and coaching management styles.

I am interested in applying those skillsets to complex social and mental-health/addiction barriers present in other clinical environments.

My goal is to complete a PhD in Clinical Psychology to improve my education to help my community.
